Article 3. Zoning Map

This Article introduces the Zoning Map as a whole. It includes language standard to ordinances.

Article 4. Residential Districts

The current standards for the residential districts have been brought together in this article.

- The purpose statements have been refined, to reflect that limited non-residential uses are allowed.
- The current regulation of “lot coverage” actually is an impervious surface regulation and has been clarified as such in the table.

Article 5. Commercial Districts

The standards for the commercial districts have been brought together in this article. There are numerous revisions in this Article, so it should be reviewed carefully.

- A new district has been crafted for consideration - the TC Tollway Commercial. This is meant to specifically address the Tollway Oasis. It requires that any land mapped the TC District must take main public access from the tollway and be a minimum size of 10 acres.
- The O/R District has been refined to reflect the standards of the PUD, which covers the land currently zoned O/R. The revision requires any future area zoned O/R to be a PUD and a minimum of 10 acres.
- We adjusted the setback sizes of the O/R District to better match what is currently on the ground. Please note, any future O/R development would be through the PUD process.
- Potential basic design standards have been proposed, for the Village’s consideration.

Article 6. Special Purpose Districts.

Two special purpose districts are included here - the Scenic Easement Overlay and the Open Space District.

- The Scenic Easement Overlay converts the current requirements into a district so that users can understand its application.
  - The OS District includes new dimensional standards for structures. The requirement that all structures in the OS District be a special use has been eliminated.

Article 7. Uses

The use structure has been reorganized as a use matrix, which is much easier to understand and amend in the future. This Article also contains use standards and definitions for all uses contained within the matrix. There are numerous revisions in this Article, so it should be reviewed carefully.

- The following uses are explicitly prohibited: large stables, short-term rentals and bed and breakfasts, manufactured homes and home parks, and kennels. These uses are defined in Article 2.
- We have interpreted use allowances (permitted or special) as best as possible. The use matrix controls P or S in bold red font to indicate further suggested allowances.
- Current use standards were maintained.
- However, for vehicle rental establishments, the limitation of five vehicles maximum has been removed but a standard has been added that they are only permitted as part of a hotel, and the permission for an associated car wash and repair facility has been eliminated.
- All terms are defined in Section 7.4, and what is a new definition and what is revised is indicated.

Article 8. On-Site Development Standards

This article contains regulations for accessory structures and uses, permitted encroachments into setbacks, temporary uses, and performance standards.

- Accessory structure coverage limitation was revised to a maximum of 5% in the R-2 District and 3% in the R-1 District.
- The limitation on the number of detached structures permitted, previously considered, has been eliminated.
- New accessory structures and uses have been added to the Ordinance for consideration. These are:
  - » Amateur (HAM) radio equipment
  - » Carport
  - » Electric vehicle charging station
  - » Exterior lighting
  - » Fences and wall (cross-reference)
  - » Home occupations - updated standards, as well as policy questions for the Village
  - » Mechanical equipment (ground and roof mounted)
  - » Refuse containers and dumpsters

- » Satellite dish antennas
  - » Solar panels
  - » Recreational courts (private)
- We have eliminated the regulations on dogs and cats in the current Zoning Ordinance, as this is already controlled by the Animal Control Ordinance.
  - Permitted encroachments are the extension or placement of an attached accessory structure or architectural feature into a required setback, which have been summarized in a table. This requires review to see if more flexibility of allowing structures to encroach is desired.
  - New temporary uses have been added, in addition to a temporary use permit. These include: residential real estate development sales office and model unit, temporary contractor's office/yard, temporary outdoor entertainment (public events), temporary outdoor storage container. Standards are provided for each.
  - Performance standards have been simplified to assist in zoning enforcement.

Article 9. Off-Street Parking and Loading

Much of the parking regulations are new, intended to supplement or modernize current standards.

- Clarifications have been made between standards for commercial versus residential.
- The required setbacks for parking lots have been reduced in order to better site parking lots and structures.

Article 11. Zoning Administration

This article is composed of three parts: 1) the powers of zoning officials; 2) the general processes - application submittal, notice, and public hearing; and 3) the specific zoning approval processes.

- The requirements for zoning application submittals have been removed from the zoning approval sections and compiled into an appendix at the end of Article 11. These should be part of the application, not the Ordinance.
- Standard provisions for zoning applications have been added, including making sure than an application is complete and that an applicant may discuss a proposed application before formal submittal.
- As noted in the text, fees should be moved out of the Zoning Ordinance.
- Notice requirements have been consolidated into one set of standards, in line with Illinois requirements.
- Posted notice was added as a requirement for map amendments, special uses, and variations.
- Each of the specific approvals have been reorganized into a similar structure. Provisions have been updated to reflect state requirements.
- Limitations of the types of variations have been eliminated.
- Site plan review is required for any development in the O/R, H, TC, and OS Districts, and for non-residential uses in the R-1 and R-2 Districts.
- Sign standards in site plan review were removed. Those should be part of sign standards.
- Zoning interpretation is a new application.

Article 12. Planned Unit Development

PUD has been reorganized but remains fundamentally the same with only minor revisions.

- The purpose statement has been updated to emphasize its role in encouraging innovative development.
- Common ownership provision has been simplified.
- The minimum size requirement was simplified to 10 acres, which reflects current PUD sizes.
- In Section 12.7.3, the requirement for a public benefit or amenity in exchange for a modification to district standards was added for the Village's consideration.

Article 13. Nonconformities

This is an update of the nonconformity provisions. The revision simplifies the current regulations and keeps the same controls/intent.

- Uses and structures have been separated so the regulations can be crafted for each.

- The proposed amendment language regarding “amortization” has not been included as it is inaccurate.
- Nonconforming large stables have been made their own section, which incorporates language from the proposed amendment.
- A new type of nonconformity - site elements - has been added to address elements like landscape and exterior lighting.

Article 14. Enforcement

Enforcement provisions have been updated by the Village Attorney, in line with Illinois regulations.
